

Know Before You Go

The Basics:

- Tell your therapist about your:
 - Symptoms
 - How your injury happened
 - Test results
 - Job duties
 - Other doctor or therapist visits
 - What gives you relief for your symptoms
- Your therapist will create a treatment plan for you, which will include short-term, long-term and home goals in order to help you get back to work
- Visits are typically about 30 minutes to 1 hour

Physical therapy (PT) can help with pain and/or help you move your muscles and joints without any problems. Often, surgery and long-term use of medicines are not needed. Your therapist might include exercises that focus on strength, movement and balance and may also ask you to do other things to help with your muscles and joints. He or she might also teach you how to keep these problems from happening again. The goal is to help you to be able to move or walk and to learn how to do your job tasks safely and get back to work.
